How to determine if your course has a coreq

When you search for classes in Banner, each section in the results list corresponds to a 5-digit Course Reference Number (CRN), shown in blue:

20010 ACCT 301 002 K 3.000 Financial Reporting TR 02:10 200 2 198
pm-03:25
pm

When you click the CRN, you are given further information about that section:

How to determine if your course has a coreq

In the Catalog Entry, corequisites are listed below the course description:

ACCT 301 - Financial Reporting

Theory and practice for preparing and using financial statements.
Introduction to professionalism and ethics in accounting.

(RE) Corequisite(s): Finance 301 and Business Administration 342.

Registration Restriction(s): Majors in the College of Business Administration.

3.000 Credit hours

3.000 Lecture hours

Levels: Undergraduate

Schedule Types: Lecture

Accounting/Information Mgmt Department

In this example, any student registering for Accounting 301 must also register for Finance 301 and Business Administration 342.

(If the student has already taken the corequisite courses, this is unnecessary.)

Registering for corequisite courses

If two or more of your courses are corequisites for one another, the Banner System will not allow you to register for those courses individually. You must register for all corequisite courses simultaneously.

This may be accomplished in the following ways:

1. Find and note all of the CRNs for your intended course sections, and then enter all of them directly into in the Add Classes Worksheet area of the Add/Drop Classes page before hitting the  button.
2. Using the Search for Classes feature, you can check each course section as you find it and then click the  button.
3. If all of your corequisite courses are from the same department (or if you select multiple departments), you can use the Search for Classes function to display the course sections and then use the checkboxes for all corequisite courses to submit them simultaneously.

Add Classes Worksheet

After all of your corequisite courses have been added to the Add Classes Worksheet page (either by direct entry on the Add/Drop Classes page or through the Search for Classes function), click the Submit Changes button.
