The University of Tennessee
Special Policy for Senior Citizens Enrolling in Credit Courses

In accordance with the provisions of Tennessee Code Annotated, Section 49-7-113, subsection (b), you may be enrolled in a course for academic credit without paying regular fees to The University of Tennessee. You must make application for admission to the University, register for courses, meet the requirements of the class for specified grades, and have a permanent academic record maintained in the same manner as other students enrolled for credit.

An application fee of $60 (Graduate) or $50 (Undergraduate) is required. Readmission is required if the student has not continually attended the University of Tennessee (except summer semester). A registration fee of seven dollars ($7.00) per semester hour credit up to a maximum of seventy dollars ($70.00) for any one semester is also required. Textbooks and other class materials must be purchased by the student. The student is responsible for other special fees (e.g., college specific fees, program specific fees, books and e-books as required by the instructor, parking, late fees, graduation fees, etc.) as needed.

Legal verification of age and Tennessee residency are required prior to registration.

* It is University of Tennessee policy that persons attending classes under State and/or Federal sponsored disability programs (i.e., Vocational Rehabilitation) are not eligible for this reduced fee.
